Meat Rationing Tightens; Some Canned Goods Freer

99 1/2 Percent Of Civilian Meat Now Rationed

Still more meat was put under rationing control Thursday of last week, effective Sunday, with the average point price higher, but some canned fruits and vegetables were reduced in point values.

Chester Bowles, price administrator, said the point rates for meat, putting about 99 1/2 percent of the civilian supply under ration control, reflected a supply for May some 2 1/2 percent less than that of April. About 94 1/2 percent of the meat supply was rationed this month.

Point prices were reduced on the following processed foods: Canned snap beans, tomato catsup and chili sauce, apricots and tomato juice and vegetable juice combination. The point price of grape juice went up.

Emphasizing the tight food supply which the monthly ration value chart reflected, President Truman meanwhile called on the nation for a big increase in the planting of victory gardens.

Pointing out that "every new victory of our armed forces brings increased demands for food for liberated people," the President said in a letter to former Gov. Prentice Cooper of Tennessee, chairman of the national garden advisory committee:

"There is greater need now than at any time since the war began for more gardens and better gardens, whether they are at home, in community plots or in company-employee gardens."

Under the new meat chart civilians must give up red points for all cuts and grades with the sole exception of mutton. Bowles said civilians can look for a little more veal, mutton and pork, but that 9,000,000 pounds less beef will be available in May than in April.

Added to the ration list are cull and utility grades of veal and lamb and all grades of the less popular cuts of veal and lamb such as breasts, shanks, necks, and flanks.

Mr. Oudin pointed out that in the twelve-county Binghamton OPA district that at the present time there is practically no fruit ready for canning. Emphasizing that every effort must be made to conserve sugar, canning sugar, must be used for just that purpose—not for table use or cookies, candies or desserts.
